MR. CHOATE FINDS OUT WHY HIS CLIENT WAS EX-PELLED FROM THE UNION CLUB. The court-room was well filled yesterday morning when the proceedings in the Union Club case were resumed before Judge Van Vorst. President Townsend, of the club, sat with Messrs. Carter and Robinson, and a number of club men dropped in during the day. Among these were Wright Sandford, Samuel P. Biagden and Harman La Ray.

and Herman Le Roy. Secretary King was again called to the stand. Mr. Choate presented the amendment to the complaint of which he had given notice on Friday. This set forth an additional ground for action on the process of establishing the invalid nature of the expulsion of Mr. Loubat, the invalid nature of the explasion of Mr. Louban, and was, in substance that several members of the Governing Committee, as it was legally constituted at the time that Mr. Loubat was expelled, had not been informed of the meeting, and that others who were presented. ent were no longer members, their terms of office having expired. Mr. Carter asserted that the whole matter was based on a mere technicality. There was no pretence that Mr. Loubat had been outraged in this particular direction, but the whole business was the result of the astuteness of his counsel, who had been burrowing and boring into the banks of the case with the remarkable poring into the datase of the result shown in this amendment. Mr. Choate observed that if Mr. Carter bore down on a Bitle thing like the amendment with so much Websterian momentum, he would not have any left for more important matters. If the amendment was strennously objected to, a new complaint might be had at a cost of $100; but Mr. Choate did not think that the counsei for that august body, the Union Club, would tive him to any such course. In conclusion he said that the amendment was not based on a technicality. Four gentlemen were elected on May 24, 1882 to fill four vacancies on the Governing Committee, and as soon as they were elected they were members of the committee. B. H. Bristow was one of these. Matters would probably have gone differently if a man of force and character like him had been present at the meeting. He would have scotted the idea of exercising the arbitrary power which the committee exercised that night. He might have converted the secretary, even.

The court ruled that the amendment was acceptable if the names of the four members who should have been informed, according to Mr. Choate's argument, were added to it. They were added. They were John A. Lowery, Roland Redmond, Cornelius Fellowes, H. W. T. Maii. and B. H. Bristow. Judge Van Vorst said that if this was a surprise to the defendants he would adjourn the case. The counsel on that side said that they wished to pro-ME, KING CONTINUES HIS TESTIMONY,

The counsel on that side said that they wished to proceed.

ME, KING CONTINUES HIS TESTMONY.

Mr. King thereupon continued his testimony. He said:

I am not Henry Turnball's friend now. I was not so previous to 1882. He was merely a club acquaintance, and in no sense a freed. I may have been a quainted with him more than ten years, as I stated on Fraday. I knew him, perhaps, seventeen years, I was nover a visitor at his house. We met frequently at the club. He was a mailine I do not think I ever dined with him, and I never with him took part in any of the games at sports at the club. I never referred to him as my frient. My relations with Wilham Turnbull were infimate and friendly. I do not like to be jouned to dates. I may have known him filteen years. I visited his house and have met other governors of the cuth at dinner there. On one occasion I met C. C. Baidwan and two others. No. that was no on the evening Mr. Loubat was expelled. I do not know whether or not it was in the preceding week. I live at the club and dine frequently at the houses of friends—nearly every night.

I first nearl the question of Mr. Loubat's expulsion mentioned between the time I hearl of the quarrel and the date when he was expelled. I may have been in February or March, 1882. It was before his return to allfornia. I may have heard a dozen men speak of h. I quanot name then or any one of them. I damod usy to Angust Belmont, prior to May 25, that the Coverning Committee were three to one in favor of expulsion. I did not make that remark to C. R. Robert. I do not remember ever saying anything to that effect. I cannot recall what the substance of the conversation was respecting. Mr. Loubat's expulsion, One member said that if the current talk in the club recticed the facts as to the conversation between Mr. Loubat and Mr. Turnbull, Mr. Loubat should be expelled. The question was objected to, but the court ruled that this question was a different question from the previous ones excipiled, and admitted it.

WHY ME, LOUBAL WAS EXPELLED.

After some hesitation or King at length said that he After some nest those are kind at tenish said that he had stated that Mr. Leubat had been expelled for using improper language in the chilehouse. He deuted saying to Mr. Sands that Mr. Loubat had been expelled because he had failed to prove the life direct of which he had necused Mr. Turnbull.
Mr. Carter accused Mr. Choate of a sinister motive in feaming the question which had elicited the last reply and the court mildly reproved him for the language. Mr. Choate observed that much harder things had been said about him than that and he was not in favor of expeding gentlemen from the bar because of hasty words used in

He then asked Mr. King if he had told anybody else that Mr. Loubat had been expelled because he had not proved the lie direct. Mr. Carter contended that Mr. Choate must name the person who had been so addressed. Mr. Cheate-I don't know. Who was it Mr. King ! [Laughter].

The matter of the circular was then again taken up and Mr. King said that it was Mr. Willing's letter to Mr. Loubat, and not one of Mr. Loubat's letters which he had seen previous to the publication of the circular. Mr Kernochan handed it to him with a request that he should copy of it. He did so and handed the copy to Henry Turnbuil. He added that the circular was not ed by the club printer nor paid for by the club.

Mr. Choate—What was your next step?
Mr. Carter—I object to the question because it proceeds on the wrong assumption that Mr. King had an extended connection with this matter.

Mr. Choate—I think he was at the bottom of the hostile correspondence.

THE PREPARATION OF THE CIRCULAR.

I saw Mr. Willing on Saturday and Mr. Kimball last night. Idid not complain to the Grand Jury of the difficulty pending. I did not go before them and do not know how they chanced to turn their attention to it. I did not gives Mr. Turnbull on the preparation of the circular. I do not know that Belmont, Hunter and Travers did. I never stated that Mr. Belmont corrected the proofs of the circular.

This testimony was objected to and Mr. Choate responded that Belmont, Hunter and Travers were three grandees of the club, whose known identification with the circular and with Henry Turnbull was bound to carry influence with it, because their wealth and their social position commanded deference among Union Club members and Union Club governors. The witness continued:

I did not know that Mr. Hunter assisted Turnbull in the preparation of the circular. Turnbull was a member of what is known as fashionable society. I do not move in what is known as Incanonable society. I do not move in fashlonable society.

Mr. Choate—I was under a misapprehension.

The winness—I accept your apology, Mr. Choate. No! I have not been a manager of the Bachelor's Ball from time immemorial. Mr. Turnbull was well-born, and he maturally had the entree to the houses of prominent Union Club members.

Mr. Choate—Was this because he was well-born! [Objected to.] The English spirits abroad in the Union Club, and it is just as well to understand these things.

asked to write a letter of censure to Mr. Loubas gone to Europe.

Mr. Choate—On what principle was this done, when Mr. Loubat was absent and not able to speak for himself!

Mr. Carter—Counsel should be ashamed of such stump matter as that.

The witness—The letter was acknowledged, and on Mr. Loubat's return, in March, 1881, the censure was withdrawn, he having written letters of apology to me and to the Governing Committee. I spoke to him afterward and had a conversation with him after his return from California, in 1882.

The cross-examination, which was begun near the end of the afternoon, elicited few new points. Mr. King said

A DIFFRIENCE WITH MR. LOUBAT IN 1880.
The witness, continuing—My relations with Mr. Loubat is an additional and difference with me in March 1880.
These were the facts:

On the evening of March 31, 1880, while I was in the club rectaurant entertaining two or three members of the club, the head watter came to me and said that Mr. Loubat whence the doors closed between the private diangeroon where he was and the next one. I said that It. Loubat whence the was under the doors were long and unless the doors were clearly declines.

The translation of the market in the hands of 20,000 to 17 to 05 to 07 three, 50 to 05 to 18 to 05 to 0 bids for all the issues are 18 lower. The following are the closing quotations:

| Bid. Asked | U.S. car. 5's, 1891, 1894, 1894, 1891, 1894, 1891,

The market for railway bonds, if anything, was weaker than the share market; and the decline in prices was only less marked than the diminution in demand. Erie second consols, with sales of $650,00, declined from 851s to 8234 and recovered to 834. West Shore and Buffalo firsts, with sales of $1,600,000, declined from 52^{7} s to 51^{3} 4 and closed at 5214. Rome, Watertown and Ogdensburg consol 5s were 34 off at 70. Chesapeake and Ohio firsts, series B, declined 15s to 103, and the currency 6s were 34 lower at 511225134. Metropolitan Elevated firsts were 1 per cent lower at 10512; Louisville and Nashville general 6s were off 5s at 9514; Chicago and Atlantic seconds were 12 lower at 8824. The 5 per cent firsts of St. Paul, on its recent extensions and additions, were in full supply at prices of late sales, but no business in them was done. Northwestern debenture firsts were off 34 at 98@9814, and Burlington and Quincy debenture 5s declined from 9812 to 9712@98. Denver and Rio Grande consols further declined 112 per cent to 76, and firsts, Western extension, declined 3 per cent to 56. Oregon Short Line 6s recovered from 88 to 89 a 8878;

Northern Pacific firsts held firm at about 1024, Mutual Union Telegraph sinking funds were off ³4 to 774.

The Sub-Treasury to-day lost on balance $70,146, made up by a com loss of $123,340, loss a currency gain of $53,194. The day's operations covered; keelipts, $1,049,784; payments, $1,119, 1929; currency balance, $10,219,442; coin balance, $125,534,546.

The money market paid no attention to the fact $125,534,546.

The money market paid no attention to the fact that upward of $2,000,000 of gold has been engaged for shipment by Wednesday's steamers, and the rates ruled at 1½22 per cent for call loans. The situation, however, has invited discussion, and thinking men are asking wey it is that the banks do not call in 5 per cent of their loans, when, by doing so, they would secure 4 or 5 per cent on the balance outstrading.

The Clearing House statement to-day was as follows: Exchanges, $124,948,915; balances, $6,037,556.

The United States Treasury at Washington to-day received $521,000 National bank notes for redemption. The customs receipts $702,805.

The foreign exchanges present no new features. While there has been no advance made from the reduction in "posted" rates of last Thursday the actual rates for business are suff at the highest quotations of this season as follows: Bankers' bills, $487.4 and $4.894 for long and short sterling respectively: 5.174 and 5.15 for traces; 95.94 and 95.4 for recembrarks: 404 and 404 for guilders.

The London market was steady for british consols, and the prices are unchanged—102.5-16 for money and 102.8 for account, United States 4s were 1-16 lower at 120.4, and the 49s were steady at 1155a. Quotations for American railways followed Saturdae's decime in the home market; but the feature is that the quotations generally are below the equivalent of home figures. The Bank of England grand £151,000 builton on balance. At Paris, French 3 per cents were a shade caster at 76.92 b, and self-texchange on London was lower at 26.174 frames to the £.
